

Australian Jamboree 15 – 21 January 2023 Ballarat, Victoria

For Guides

We are so excited to welcome everyone to the Kani-Karrung Australian Guide Jamboree. To ensure a fantastic and positive event for everyone we share with you the Jamboree values and expectations.

Jamboree Values

Respect Yourself

- I will: Speak to myself with kindness
- I will: Recognise the impact of my actions on others
- I will: Tell someone if I am unhappy or feel unsafe
- I will: Be prepared, on time, and where I am supposed to be

Respect Others

- I will: Treat others how I would like to be treated
- I will: Recognise and encourage that everyone is different and equal
- I will: Respect and protect others right to privacy
- I will: Listen to and be mindful of those around me

Respect my World

- I will: Protect the earth, plants, and animals
- I will: Try new things in new environments
- I will: Take care of belongings and equipment
- I will: Take small steps towards sustainability that leave a large impact

It is important that everyone has fun at camp. This means you must respect yourself and others. We expect you to look after your own possessions, attend to your personal health by having showers, using sunscreen, getting enough sleep. To respect others we expect that there will no touching of others or their possessions without permission, abiding by the mobile phone policy, not posting pictures of others on social media without express permission and talking to a leader if you see others behaving inappropriately.

We are here to help

If you are having problems or some thing doesn't feel right – you need to speak with a leader in your subcamp. If you are not feeling that you are being listened to please come and speak to the Administration team and ask to speak with Lou, Helen or Dani, who can be found in the Administration Building.

Your commitment

On flip side if we feel you are not living up to the Jamboree values and there is evidence, we will be conversation about your time on camp ending and sending you home. This is to ensure a safe environment for everyone at camp.
